DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Jacino et al (5209935).

Jacino teaches the unitary resin chamber construction, said construction including a chamber (34), a peripheral flange (21, 31), a pouring spout (30), at least one vent (47), said inner surface including an adhesive layer (24) and a release cover over said adhesive (Col. 7, lines 4-7), a tab (63), a gasket (40), and a second adhesive layer (42).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

Art Unit: 1722

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
4. Claims 6-9, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jacino et al (5209935) in view of Jacino (5401152).

Jacino (5209935) fails to teach a light diffuser, chamber shape, close proximity of the vent and pouring spout and resin container.

Jacino teaches a pouring spout open into said chamber (Fig. 5) and pouring spout 'close proximity' with said vent (Fig. 5) is a relative term. Examiner takes the position that both pieces are in close proximity to one another in relation to the break in the plate glass.

In regards to claims 8 and 9, the shape of the chamber is a design choice and is merely a change in shape. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Jacino with a round or square shape because it allows for the desired molding shape.

In regards to light diffuser, the layers (23, 24) and template seal (20) are transparent along with the spout. This allows for the UV light to penetrate and cure the resin (Col. 7, lines 4-19). Jacino also teaches the use of a mirror (49) to aid in the curing via the UV rays. Jacino (5401152) teaches a kit for repairing light bulb housings for automobiles and includes a light diffuser (Col. 5, lines 43-45) to aid in repair and also containers (11, 13, 14) for containing the resin (21, 22).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Jacino (5209935) with a light diffuser and resin container as taught by Jacino (5401152) because it will further aid in the curing of the resin and hold the materials prior to injection.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Anderson (4820148), Jacino et al (5955113) and Jacino et al (6685784).
